Helicopter hunt after boy, 16, is shot in leg

ARMED police were called in after a teenage boy was shot with an airgun.

A police helicopter and dog units were also alerted after receiving reports of a man with what appeared to be a firearm in Haverhill.

The alarm was raised just after 5pm on Tuesday when a suspect was spotted in an alleyway off Wratting Road in the town.

Local officers were immediately sent to search the area.

They found a 16-year-old boy who had been shot in the leg with an air pistol, leaving him with a small red mark on his shin.

The boy, who has not been named, did not require hospital treatment for his injury.

HANNAH MIRSKY

Two 18-year-old men were arrested yesterday on suspicion of assault in connection with the incident. A spokesman for Suffolk Police confirmed armed police responded to the call-out.

He said: "We had to have the usual response for a firearm until we knew what it was."

A police statement added: "Police were called just after 5pm on Tuesday, April 7, to reports of a man seen with what was believed to be a gun in an alleyway off Wratting Road, Haverhill."

"Local officers were immediately sent to search the area, assisted by the dog and helicopter units, and a 16-year-old boy was identified as having been shot in the leg with an air pistol, which left him with a small red mark on his shin.

"Police have arrested two 18-year-old men on suspicion of assault in connection with the incident."

The two suspects were taken into custody at Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation Centre where they were due to be questioned by officers.

Police are still appealing for information in connection with the shooting.

Anyone who knows anything about the incident is asked to call Haverhill Police on 101, quoting crime reference number HH/15/805.

Inspector says care home needs to improve

A CARE home has been told it "requires improvement" after an inspection by the Care Quality Commission.

The Meadows Care Home in Haverhill's Brybank Road was told it was not safe, effective or well-led in the report, which was published last Tuesday.

The report said: "Staffing levels fluctuated which meant we could not be assured that people's needs were always met safely."

It also said, about the service's responsiveness, that "some people did not get their needs met adequately".

Further concerns were raised about the support the staff were receiving. The inspectors wrote that "staff were not always well supported", adding "we identified some gaps in training and the level of support each member of staff received."

They added they "could not always see how [staff] assessed people's capacity to make decisions and not all staff had been trained in understanding the legal requirements in relation to MCA [the Mental Capacity Act]."

However, the report also said that the service was caring and effective.

Haverhill resident David Brett said that while his mother was in the home, "they always seemed to have new staff".

Haverhill town councillor Maureen Byrne said: "If it has been shown that the

'Banter' as rivals hijack Tory's visit

PARTY TIME: Matthew Hancock, centre, with Conservative supporters and inset, being followed by Labour campaigners

HANNAH MIRSKY

ELECTION season is under way in Haverhill – and political parties are clashing on the High Street.

Conservative parliamentary candidate for West Suffolk Matthew Hancock visited Haverhill on Saturday morning to launch his election campaign.

But he was met with six Labour supporters, including Mayor of Haverhill Roger Andre, who followed the Conservative with placards as he walked down the High Street.

Mr Andre said: "Labour members received the invite and came along to support and encourage him."

"We just walked up the High Street with them and waved Matthew off as he left Haverhill."

"It was normal political banter. Matthew was very reasonable, but some of the Conservative supporters weren't very happy about it. It was fairly light-hearted."

Conservative councillor Betty McLatchy said: "Somebody obviously tried to stir it up, but it didn't work. In a community like Haverhill, you can't afford to have bad blood."

"It was hilarious. It wasn't supposed to be, but it worked out that way."

The event, which took place at 8.30am on Saturday morning, was part of Mr Hancock's all-day 100-mile tour of West Suffolk to meet voters.

He intended "to launch my campaign, to listen to constituents, and take our message of more jobs, more apprenticeships, more broadband, better schools, more accessible GP services, wider roads and fewer potholes to the voters".

Voters were invited to meet Mr Hancock, who was MP for West Suffolk during the last parliament, at various points along his tour.

The political sparring will continue in Haverhill on Friday, April 17, with a hustings event at 7.30pm at St Mary's Church.

Parliamentary candidates for West Suffolk from five different parties will be speaking at the event.

They are: Mr Hancock for the Conservatives, Labour's Michael Jeffreys, UKIP's Julian Flood, Liberal Democrat Elfreda Tealby-Watson and the Greens' Niall Pettitt.

It is one of at least eight hustings events in churches taking place across West Suffolk.

Mr Hancock, who is currently a Government business minister, will also be visiting Haverhill on Thursday, April 16, to speak at an event run by thebestof Haverhill.

Thebestof Haverhill owner Elaine Carr said about the event, which will take place at 10am at the Days Inn hotel: "I am very pleased that Matthew has taken the time out of his busy schedule in the run up to the General Election to speak at our event again this year."

"I know he likes to use our events as a forum to find out the opinions and concerns of the businesses in Haverhill and to discuss the issues that are affecting the town."

Home 'working hard' to bring about improvements

staffing numbers are insufficient, they have got to correct that immediately. I think we need as a town to monitor what's going on."

The report is based on an inspection that took place at the home, pictured right, on November 24 last year.

Sara Gregory, head of quality and compliance at Minster Haverhill, which runs the home, said: "The inspection was conducted five months ago."

"Since then we have worked very hard to achieve actions in those few areas that were identified, and our newly-registered manager has been working very hard."

Town councillor Betty McLatchy said: "The home's got a good reputation. Some of the residents come to our church, and they are obviously very happy there."

"People get sick, and sometimes if someone doesn't turn up you are going to be short-staffed. Unfortunately it shows up when it comes to care work. I have always considered it to be a very good place."

The report also said that "staff were familiar with people's needs and provided people with meaningful stimulation and positive encouragement" and that they "were inclusive and respected people's dignity and privacy".

Firefighters tackle two blazing vehicles over bank holiday weekend

BURNT-OUT: The aftermath of a car fire in the car park of Tesco in Cangle Road on Saturday

A CAR caught fire in a Haverhill car park on Saturday.

The grey vehicle was parked outside Tesco in the town's Cangle Road when it caught fire at around 11am that morning.

The emergency services were alerted and Suffolk Fire and Rescue crews attended the scene.

They used one hosereel and two sets of breathing apparatus to extinguish the blaze.

The cause of the car fire is not thought to be suspicious.

It was followed on Sunday by a motorcycle fire.

The fire service attended the scene of Sunday's fire, on the A1307 in Haverhill, at 5.37pm after receiving multiple calls about a motorbike on fire.

One appliance was sent to the scene, and firefighters used one hosereel to extinguish the blaze.

The fire was out by 5.55pm and the crews were back at their stations at 5.59pm.

Police were also called at around 5.50pm, and attended the scene.

The cause of the motorcycle fire is thought to be suspicious.

A spokesman for Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service, gave this advice on what to do in the event of a vehicle fire:

"By keeping your vehicle in the best possible condition, i.e. through regular servicing, people can minimise the risk of car fires.

"If a car fire does start Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service would always advise people to leave the vehicle immediately, get to a safe distance and call 999.

"Members of the public should not attempt to put out the fire themselves."

Council sorry for polling card error

THE borough council has apologised for an error on polling cards sent out to Haverhill residents.

The polling cards were sent out to electors in Suffolk County Council's Haverhill Cangle division.

They stated that a vacancy in the Cangle division was a St Edmundsbury Borough Council vacancy, when in fact it was a county council vacancy.

The vacancy was caused by the resignation of Cllr Anne Gower.

The error will not affect residents' ability to vote in the borough, county or parliamentary elections on Thursday, May 7.

All other information on the polling cards was correct.

Brass players' charity concert

A CONCERT to raise money for young brass players to take music exams will take place at 7.30pm on Sunday at the Haverhill Arts Centre.

The band will consist of brass and percussion players.

Tickets cost £9 and can be bought from the arts centre box office.

Queen St set for funeral parlour?

A PLANNING application has been submitted to extend a derelict shop in Haverhill – and it looks like it could become a funeral parlour.

The application is to build an extension to the back of 12 to 14 Queen Street, which would be the site of clothing shop Morley's.

A proposed floor plan for the extended and renovated shop shows that it would have a nine-person mortuary fridge and a space for a coffin, leading to speculation that a new funeral parlour could be opening.

The applicant's agent, Chris Barker of Barker Associates, was unable to confirm whether the new business would be a funeral parlour.

He said his client did not want to reveal his plans, as he was concerned about competition for business.

Mr Barker said: "The site has been bought by developers and will be put into good use shortly."

He said that the changes to the site would take four to five months after planning permission was obtained, and that permission was likely to be granted in June.

This would mean that if all went to plan, the new business would be up and running in the autumn.

Sonia Humphrey, who owns Sonia's Hair and Beauty, opposite the site of Morley's, said: "I have heard that it's going to be a funeral parlour.

"It's a difficult one to be honest. I probably wouldn't like it, but at the end of the day, but I suppose everywhere you put a funeral parlour nobody's going to like it.

"It's not going to help Queen Street, but it will tidy up Morley's a bit.

"There's positives and negatives to it."

Councillor Betty McLatchy said about the possibility of a funeral parlour: "I can't see any problem with it. It's nice to see a shop being used, right there at the entrance to Queen Street.

"And let's face it, there's a lot of elderly in Haverhill."

Morley's closed in March last year, and the shop has been disused since then.

The extension would also involve creating a new back entrance to the shop, and extending the flat above the business.

Win festival tickets and get recycling tips

A VIDEO released by the county council teaches Haverhill residents how to recycle their waste – and gives them the chance to win tickets to a festival.

The video, released yesterday, reminds residents that since November 2014 they have been able to recycle new materials such as aerosol cans, books and metal pots, pans and trays.

Anyone who watches the video and answers a recycling-related question before April 27 could be in with the chance to win two Saturday day tickets to Latitude Festival.

Easter fun with eggs

FAMILIES in Haverhill celebrated Easter this year with bunnies, bonnets and chocolate eggs.

More than 300 children turned out to an egg hunt in the town's East Town Park on Saturday in spite of chilly weather. All of them found a token which meant they could collect an Easter egg, and some found special tokens for larger eggs.

There was also face-painting and a visit from the Easter bunny, who was collecting money for Friends of East Town Park.

Another egg hunt took place on Saturday in The Meadow, Kedington. Children also collected tokens for eggs at this event, with 600 eggs and 150 bags of mini eggs available.

A special token for an extra-large golden egg was won by 2-year-old Bradley McGrath.

Schools and pre-schools in Haverhill also celebrated Easter before breaking up for the holidays.

At Happy Faces Pre-School, children were treated to an Easter egg hunt and an Easter hat competition, attended by Mayor of Haverhill Roger Andre and Cllr Maureen Byrne.

Pre-school manager Diana Andre said

Deputy headteacher Jill Lightfoot said: "It was just a really nice afternoon bringing the students together for Easter. It was a break from the usual everyday stuff."

Stepping Stones Pre-School held an egg hunt and an Easter bonnet competition on March 30. The festive event was attended by Mayor Roger Andre and Tesco's community champion Claire Bowden.

Infrastructure is key for our town's future

WITH regard to the front-page report on the approval of the new development ('Plans for over 1,000 homes are approved', Weekly News, April 2) I agree that it is a positive step forward for the town; however, as always Mr Griffiths's spin on the proposals will be far from the reality that the town faces.

I hold with Mr Brown's concerns, as with him I am a lifelong resident and businessman in town. I live on the Arrendene development and am concerned about the added pressures placed on Howe Road.

Mr Griffiths's "sell" is very similar to what we were told 20 years ago with the Hanchett Village development, schools, shops, doctors, roads etc – the reality, excluding Sainsbury's move which aided the demise of the High Street, it took 15 years to achieve a few local shops and care home.

Still no doctors, schools, leisure, many residents choosing to move to the town from higher house price areas but still returning there for work, schooling, shopping. You just have to see how busy the A 1307 is morning and night.

Once the developers move in their priority is profit first.

Infrastructure is key; at a meeting last year I was informed the town's electrical and water supplies were at breaking point, since this point The Arboretum as well as other housing developments have added further demand on these services.

Infrastructure must come first for the good of the town and its residents, not for developers' profit.

Report the good news, promote the town, Haverhill is a great place but it must be controlled by the local councillors and committees and with a voice of its residents.

Beware angry men on car park

LAST week you asked for comments by the public regarding the We Buy Any Car kiosk in the B&Q car park ('Councillors say car sale kiosk is 'inappropriate'', Weekly News, April 2).

I quite often walk that way and have to say that while it always makes sense to keep your wits about you when crossing a car park, there seems to be an increased number of rather angry looking and impatient men throwing cars around in that particular corner of the car park, so be warned! One can't help but wonder what personal stories may lie behind such behaviour. I guess it's simply a sign of the times, but there is what is supposed to be a zebra crossing or pedestrian route which leads straight to that part of the car park. Sadly, it looks like an accident waiting to happen.

Whittlesford Parkway is the better option

I SEE from your article 'Bus-rail link 'is council priority'' (Weekly News, April 2) that the "nearby rail station" stated in the report is Great Chesterford.

It puzzles me why Great Chesterford (16.7 miles from Haverhill bus station) would have been chosen over Whittlesford Parkway (14.3 miles from Haverhill bus station).

Admittedly Great Chesterford is four minutes closer to London on the train, but given that the majority of trains do not stop at Great Chesterford (and those that do tend to be the slower "all stations" trains) I would say that the extra four minutes' train time is a small price to pay for the additional flexibility, reduced road journey and easier access that Whittlesford Parkway offers.

I am currently a daily commuter from Haverhill via Whittlesford Parkway to London Liverpool Street and would definitely consider an express bus service if it offered an efficient and cost-effective alternative to using/parking the car.

I am not familiar with the passenger statistics of the Cambridge-London journey, but from my personal observations of the passengers using Whittlesford Parkway the vast majority are travelling south to London rather than north to Cambridge, Ely, King's Lynn etc.

So while the bus-rail link would add benefit to southbound passengers, it is not really going to be a practical alternative for Cambridge-bound passengers, they might as well use the bus the whole way to Cambridge.

I understand Cllr Brown's concerns regarding rush hour traffic, but in reality the "rush hour" for the bus-rail link is going to be earlier than the usual Haverhill-Cambridge traffic as most of the passengers have to factor the train journey south (the majority to London) onto their commute, so I would not see this as an issue (given the current road traffic volumes).

Easter holidays? We're in school for extra lessons!

HANNAH MIRSKY

MOST children see the school holidays as a chance to escape from lessons, play with friends and laze around watching TV – but not the pupils of Clements Primary School.

Seventeen of the school's Year Six pupils enjoy studying so much they have been coming in to learn more during the Easter holidays.

They were taking part in Clements' "Easter School", a holiday learning initiative to help them gear up for their SATs exams in May.

The holiday school ran over three days, starting on Tuesday, April 7 and finishing today.

The hardworking students took lessons in reading, writing and maths in the morning, before relaxing with some sports in the afternoon.

They've also been provided with snacks and breakfast food.

The holiday programme has proved such a success that Clements is planning on repeating it next year.

Headteacher Caroline Zwierzchowska-Dod said: "It's a nice, informal way of brushing up on essentials and exam techniques in the run-up to SATs.

"It also helps make sure that the children don't forget what they have learnt in the holidays.

HARD-WORKING: Clements pupils with headteacher Caroline Zwierzchowska-Dod

"There's something called learning loss, which happens when children go on holiday and they forget what you've taught them. Any teacher will tell you about it."

All of the students are attending "Easter School" out of choice, and it's not just for students who need help in their exams.

Ms Zwierzchowska-Dod said: "We have got one Year Six class, and it's for any of them who want to come. It might be to stretch them, or to provide some extra support."

And it turns out that the programme has been a success with the pupils.

Eleven-year-old Ellie Westley said about going to school in the holiday: "Easter School is amazing, they should do this every year!"

And Adrienne Da Silva, 10, said:

"Easter School is really fun and is helpful for our SATs exams."

The exams the pupils are preparing for are national assessments in English and maths.

The Government has placed a strong emphasis on them, with David Cameron announcing this week that students who fail the exams in Year Six will have to retake them in their first year of secondary school.

Call for families to help others as new charity launches in West Suffolk

PARENTS are being sought to help out with a new charity designed to support people in the West Suffolk area.

Home-Start, a leading family charity, is launching its services in West Suffolk and is looking for people who can spare two to three hours a week to provide emotional and practical support.

Home-Start volunteers are matched with a family to offer support with the aim of helping a family get back on their feet.

Lucy Carter, families and communities service manager for Forest Heath District Council, said: "Families need support for all sorts of reasons such as adapting to a new baby, relationships breaking down, bereavement, financial difficulties, or stress.

"Home-Start is about people who have lived some of these experiences and come out the other side, going into another family's home, sharing what they have been through and offering emotional support, knowledge, reassurance and then directing them to services that are out there to help the family through this tough time."

Fundraising beauty night raises £200 for Joni's pot

A YOUNG fundraiser has raised more than £200 at her latest event to raise cash for charity.

Joni Andre, 9, who goes to Burton End Primary School, organised a pamper evening at Sonia's in Queen's Street last month.

The event, on Wednesday, March 18, was part of a year of fundraising Joni is doing to raise money for East Anglian Children's Hospices (EACH).

Staff at Sonia's gave the venue and their time for free for the event, and visitors could choose to have beauty treatments for reasonable prices.

Joni said: "I have already beaten my £300 target for the year, after just two events. The ladies at Sonia's were brilliant and really helped me out."

Joni is now setting herself a new fundraising target of £1,000 for the year.

Her next event will be running the 2km fun run before the Haver10 10km run through Haverhill on Sunday, April 12. She is planning other events such as a sponsored cycle ride and a tombola for later in the year.

'Unsuitable' disabled ramp to be modified

COUNCILLORS have criticised a ramp which they say doesn't provide proper access for wheelchair users.

Councillor Maureen Byrne said the ramp outside the Leiston Centre community centre on the Clements Estate is too steep to be accessible.

She said: "You start pushing a wheelchair up and it seems OK, and suddenly it gets steeper and steeper."

"If you are a carer pushing a wheelchair up there, it really is unsafe."

"The whole thing about it is that we as the town council have a responsibility to provide disabled access."

Cllr Byrne raised the issue at a meeting of the Haverhill Town Council finance committee on Tuesday.

She said at the meeting: "That ramp is not suitable for people pushing a wheelchair.

"The borough council reckons it complies with the guidelines that are set down for ramps for wheelchairs, but I don't think that when it was put in it was for the wheelchairs that people use now."

The finance committee were making a decision on putting money aside for repairs to the Leiston Centre for future councils to use.

They chose to set aside a large enough sum that a future council after the election on May 7 would have enough to make the building more accessible.

Cllr Betty McLatchy said: "It is quite a steep area. If we are going to put some money aside it should be sufficient to modify the ramp."

The council was unable to set plans in motion to change the ramp immediately at the meeting due to the upcoming election and the end of the financial year.

Cllr Byrne said after the meeting: "I am confident it will be done as a priority. We all agreed that when a refurbishment takes place, there will be costs put aside for the ramp."

There is an alternative access ramp at the back of the Leiston Centre. Cllr Byrne said: "It's really bumpy on that route round the building."

Still time to sign up for 10k run in town

THE Haver10, a 10k run through the centre of Haverhill, is taking place this weekend – but there's still time to sign up.

Runners will set off from Haverhill Leisure Centre at 11am on Sunday, April 12, with a 2k fun run for families beginning at 10.30am.

Online entries are now closed, but you can still sign up on the day or the day before.

To enter, or to register if you are already an entrant, head to the leisure centre on Saturday from 2pm to 5pm, or on Sunday from 8am until the start of the race.

The event is raising money for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Last year, alongside the Haverhill half marathon HaverHalf, it raised more than £13,000 for the hospice charity.

HaverHalf is also returning this year and will take place on Sunday, October 25.

To register, visit entrycentral.com/haverhalf2015.

Prime Smart, the new standard in bodywork repair

A PRANG in the carpark, a scrape against the side of your car or a parallel parking disaster that's scuffed up your lovely alloys.

We've all been there and every time you see that dent in your door you feel bereft all over again. But fear not.

Help is at hand as local Chipsaway director Sam King is set to open new bodywork repair shop Prime Smart on April 11.

Sam has been running the Chipsaway franchise in Haverhill for the past five years and has 15 year's experience in the repair business. He is local to the town having lived here all of his life and says: "I feel my experience has taught me what people in this area expect in terms of service and value for money and I think a local independent company will serve them better.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

With a national franchise you tend to lose the personal touch but, in a small town, that's something people appreciate."

The personal touch is what makes Prime Smart particularly unique and convenient to its customers as Sam explains, "Once the customer gets in contact, we organise a time to visit their home or work address and assess the damage. Then we'll book them in and return to collect the vehicle for a same day repair before dropping it back off once the work is completed." Sam continues, "We offer the best of both worlds in that we're a mobile repair service, meaning the customer doesn't need to travel, but we also give the highest quality of repair as all work is carried out in a professional workshop rather than out on their driveway."

Not only is pick-up and delivery free of charge, but due to the techniques used in the workshop, Prime Smart can be up to 50 per cent cheaper than a traditional bodyshop.

Sam says: "There's no need for a full spray booth or spray oven. We minimise the repair area to as small as possible to keep the overheads down and additionally we don't charge any VAT."

Prime Smart opens for business this Saturday at Unit 5 on Homefield Road CB9 8QP so if you're fed up driving a scruffy looking vehicle, get in touch with Sam at Prime Smart on (01440) 714049 and ask for a quote.

Alternatively email info@primesmart.co.uk or visit primesmart.co.uk.

Teenager is rushed to hospital after 'neurological incident'

A TEENAGE boy has been taken to hospital due to a problem with his brain.

An East Anglian Air Ambulance helicopter landed in a driveway in Haverhill at 9.55pm on Monday.

A doctor and a critical-care paramedic treated the boy for the 'neurological incident' and escorted him in an East of England Ambulance Trust land ambulance to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge.

Listen to the dawn chorus

A DAWN chorus morning is being held very early on Saturday, April 25, in West Wrattling.

Anyone interested in hearing the chorus can meet the wildlife trust volunteer warden Duncan Mackay at 4.50am at the top of the lane into Lower Wood on Mill Hill in the village.

Anyone who wants to come is advised to wrap up warm and bring a torch.

Tesco staff learn about town centre masterplan

HANNAH MIRSKY

STAFF at Tesco had a chance to learn more about the town centre masterplan yesterday – with less than a fortnight to go before the consultation ends.

An information stand was set up in the staff canteen at the supermarket from noon to 2pm yesterday to give workers a chance to find out more about the plan during lunchtime.

Representatives from ONE Haverhill, which is running the consultation, were on hand to discuss the general "issues and options" facing the town centre and how to give views.

The issues include how people move around the town centre and how town spaces could be enhanced.

Another information stand will be set up in the Sanofi staff canteen on Monday, April 13.

ONE Haverhill has also been engaging with other community and business groups such as the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, the Befriending Scheme, Wednesdays for Women and the Women's Institute.

ONE Haverhill chairman Sarah

INFORMED: Chris Hinton, Tesco personnel manager, and Sara Portilho, customer services assistant, with Alex Frost from St Edmundsbury Borough Council's economic development team and Lizzy Cocker, ONE Haverhill Board member

Howard said: "In addition to meeting with the public at drop-in events during phase 1 of the consultation, we have also been meeting with local groups, with employees at local companies, and our planning experts addressed a networking event at Haverhill Chamber of Commerce to encourage people to give their views and reach a wide range of people in the town."

But there are only a few days left to have your say on the masterplan, as the consultation ends on Friday, April 17.

You can complete the questionnaire online at onehaverhill.co.uk, or by picking up a paper copy at Haverhill Arts Centre, Haverhill House or the library.

What do YOU think?

Email us at editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

The views given by members of the public will go towards creating a draft masterplan for the town centre.

Another six-week consultation will take place from Monday, June 8 to Friday, July 17. This is will give members of the public a chance to comment on the draft masterplan.

The masterplan will become part Haverhill Vision 2031, a formal planning document which it is hoped will be adopted by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Survey on wheelchair repairs

A WATCHDOG has carried out a survey into the satisfaction of wheelchair users with wheelchair repair services in Suffolk.

The survey and follow-up telephone interviews were carried out by Healthwatch Suffolk.

It revealed that 72 per cent of users were pleased with the service, with 79 per cent saying it was easy to contact and 69 per cent happy with the time engineers took to arrive.

However, the service users were less happy with the way their complaints were responded to. Of those who complained, 58 per cent said that their complaint had not been dealt with promptly, while 39 per cent felt their complaint had not been listened to.

Tony Rollo, chairman of Healthwatch Suffolk, said: "Levels of satisfaction vary across the service with service users positive in general about the overall service received. It is clear however that improvements can be made to enhance experience in several key areas including complaints handling and information dissemination.

"We will continue to work closely with those responsible for managing the service to monitor progress and track improvements now and in the future."

FIRST AIDERS: Daniel Betts, Deborah Hall, Ben Rolt, Samantha Hall and Kellie-Marie Hughes with their certificates

Safety's Inn the bag.... five hotel workers complete first aid course

VISITORS to the Days Inn Hotel in Haverhill's Phoenix Road are in safe hands – five of the hotel's staff have just completed a first aid course.

Days Inn employees Ben Rolt, Kellie-Marie Hughes, Daniel Betts, Deborah Hall and Samantha Hall did a one-day course in emergency first aid at work.

All of them have now received the CIEH Level 2 Award for first aid.

The course was organised by the hotel's senior guest service manager Simon Bolton, and was supported by West Suffolk College.

General manager Donna Revell said: "I am delighted that there was such an interest in the first aid course. Knowing what to do in an emergency can be a lifesaving skill and is especially important in a customer-facing business like the hotel."

The course was subsidised by the Skills Support for the Workforce project, a £2.1 million investment in training for small businesses in Suffolk and Norfolk from the European Social Fund.

New phone system for police calls

THE police have introduced a new automated system for non-emergency calls.

HANNAH MIRSKY

Suffolk Constabulary's new system, introduced on Tuesday, prompts callers to make a series of choices and directs their call to the right department.

The technology, which was already being used by other forces, will be introduced within the central call answering team (CCA).

The aim is to reduce demand on the CCA and allow for better management of calls.

The new system is part of the Suffolk Change Project, which looks at how to use police resources as efficiently as possible.

Chief Superintendent Martin Ransome said: "This is an exciting development in our redesign of the Constabulary's Community Contact facilities.

"The automated system will allow us to use technology to help us manage calls more efficiently, while giving callers choices on how they would like their call to be handled.

"It is essential that we make the most of all our resources as we work to redesign our departments to deliver services for less. This technology has the potential to realise savings and will let us better evaluate the demand that the non-emergency number faces.

"I would like to stress that callers to the organisation do not need to do anything differently. Non-emergency calls should continue to be made by dialling 101 and emergency calls should be made by dialling 999. Calls will continue to be answered quickly and members of the public will only be automatically diverted when they know the specific department they need. They will still be able to speak to an operator if required."

The system is already being used elsewhere within the organisation, and required minimal installation and training costs.

ROUND UP

● Theatre: There's clattering about, clumsiness, silliness and farcical goings on at Cambridge Arts Theatre this week.

Mischief Theatre Company is staging its award-winning play within a play, Peter Pan Goes Wrong, which sees The Cornley Polytechnic Drama Society trying to recreate J.M. Barrie's magical children's adventure. Having won the best new comedy gong at the 2014 Whatsonstage Awards (it's getting five star reviews across the board), it takes Neverland, Hook, Peter, Wendy and the lost boys, and engineers it so that they all become even more lost than usual... in fact, the consequences are disastrous, hilariously so.

Peter Pan Goes Wrong, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Sunday, April 12 at 7.45pm. Tickets £15-£27.50 from (01223) 503333 / cambridgeartstheatre.com.

● Music: Ely's Mark Ellis will be headlining a gig on April 16 at the Portland Arms in Cambridge. Doors open at 8pm, admission £5 on the door. Other bands include End The Silence, Tom Lumley and The Vitamins.

● Comedy: Brighton born comedian Seann Walsh is bringing his latest show, 28, to Cambridge Junction, despite the fact he's now 29 (let it go). Growing up in Brighton, Walsh was inspired to get into comedy thanks to watching Jim Carey movies. He started gigging – and pulling pints – in pubs in 2006, and won his first award, Leicester Mercury Comedian of the Year in 2009.

Walsh was quite the party boy and has spent much of his career telling anecdotes about being drunk, hung-over, or both. The Guardian dubbed him the "ultimate witty-bloke-down-the-pub" due to his "laddish charm" and off-the-cuff observations.

Seann Walsh: 28, Cambridge Junction, Saturday, April 11 at 8pm. Tickets £15 from (01223) 511511 / junction.co.uk.

AFTER months of planning, booking and wrangling with authors and writers, the Cambridge News-backed Cambridge Literary Festival finally kicks off on Tuesday.

Among the highlights are Matt Haig, SJ Watson, Jane Hawking and Mary Portas (go to Cambridge-news.co.uk for the interviews); along with Ali Smith, Graham Swift and Judith Kerr, and there promises to be a brilliant children's programme.

Here are some others not to be missed:

1. Girl power

Feminist activist and author of Do It Like A Woman, Caroline Criado-Perez, chats to journalist Katrine Marçal (Who Cooked Adam Smith's Dinner?), about the lack of positive female representation in the media, and society as a whole. How do we fix that?

The Winstanley, Tuesday, 7.30pm, £6-£10

2. What a woman

Kate Gross in quick succession was an advisor to Tony Blair, CEO of a charity, mum to twin boys and diagnosed with colon cancer at 34. She died in 2014 after writing her memoir, Late Fragments. Hear her mother and husband pay tribute to her and her book.

Union Chamber, Thursday, 8pm,

A literary feast

£6-£11

3. Take a closer look

As part of the festival's 'State of the Nation' strand, journalist Will Hutton will discuss his new book, How Good Can We Be, putting inequality, capitalism, economy and democracy under the microscope.

Union Chamber, April 17, 5.30pm, £6-£11

4. Power of words

Hear celebrated poet Roger McGough read from his new collection, As Far As I Know, which promises his usual mix of wit, melancholy and a honed gaze on the murkier sides of human nature.

Union Chamber, April 17, 8.30pm, £7-£13

5. Great debate

Guardian columnist Zoe Williams chairs a discussion on what future the younger generation has to look forward to, considering the inescapable jobs and housing markets, and political apathy. She'll be joined by Labour councillor Georgia Gould, writer Chloe Combi and presenter

Rick Edwards.

The Winstanley, April 18, 11.30am, £5-£10

6. Go wild

Cambridge based nature writer and Festival patron Robert Macfarlane is set to talk about his latest book, Landmarks, which takes you from Cornwall to the Shetlands. Go on a journey around the British Isles, taking in the skies and the full bodied language of the landscape.

Union Chamber, April 18, 4pm, £6-£11

7. Life in pop

Married couple Ben Watt and Tracey Thorn will both share snippets from their respective memoirs (don't worry, they aren't too competitive): Romany and Tom for Watt, and Bedsit Disco Queen for Thorn. Expect tall tales and reminiscing.

Union Chamber, April 18, 7.30pm, £6-£11

8. Visit Wonderland

Explore the worlds of Alice and Lewis Carroll with Robert Douglas-Fairhurst, author of a new, definitive biography of the author and his muse, Alice Liddell. Called The Story of Alice, festival patron and Wonderland expert Dame Gillian Beer will also be chipping in.

Union Library, April 19, 10am, £6-£10

9. Scribble away

Political cartoonist Steve Bell has a whole lot of sharp wryness in his fingertips. Find out all about his new collection, If: The Graphic Novel, featuring cartoons covering the five years of the current coalition government. It's scathingly funny.

Union Chamber, April 18, 11.30am, £6-£11

10. Classic giants

Writers Patricia Duncker and Caryl Phillips have taken inspiration from literary titans in their news books. In Sophie and Sibyl, Duncker draws on George Eliot, while Phillips looks to Emily Brontë for The Lost Child. They'll be talking to Margaret Drabble.

■ Haverhill Silver Band are having a special fundraising concert for the POLISHED BRASS Fund on Sunday at 7.30pm. Over the past decade this fund has helped many young local brass and percussion players with the rising expense of music exams. Many players are ex-National Youth Band members and there will be many current and ex-members of the Haverhill Silver Band and Haverhill Youth Band on the night.

boat back to life is Kasey, a young intern with a chip on her shoulder. When a piece of Mo's beloved dredger goes missing their lives are up-ended and the past floats to the surface.

A young psychology researcher at a brain-science institute is facing a troubling question at work. If there is nothing but matter, what is consciousness? Is the day coming when the computer and the fMRI scanner will answer all the questions psychology can ask? We have a live broadcast on Thursday 16 April at 7pm.

■ A true legend of British music, MADDY PRIOR has built her career on exploring various musical avenues. Her latest album 3 For Joy is no exception, a further exploration of the tradition she loves. England, the British Isles and Eastern Europe on Friday 17 April at 8pm.

Volvo's Life Paint boosts cycling safety in a spray

VOLVO UK has launched the highly innovative Life Paint, a product aimed at increasing the visibility and safety of cyclists on the road. The unique reflective spray is designed to react to a car's headlights, alerting drivers to the presence of cyclists in the dark.

Life Paint was conceived by creative agency Grey London and has been produced in partnership with Swedish start-up Albedo100. It is a unique reflective safety paint which is invisible by daylight, but in the dark reflects light in the same direction as the light source, shining brightly to illuminate the objects it has been sprayed on.

Life Paint is transparent and can be washed off. It can be applied to clothes, shoes, helmets, push-chairs and children's backpacks – even dog leads and collars. Its aim is to make the invisible visible at night.

Life Paint has been trialled in six London-based cycle shops, where 2,000 cans were given away free of charge. If Life Paint proves popular, the project will expand nationally and internationally.

The initiative marks another step by Volvo to improve safety for those both inside and outside its cars. This builds on the development of Intellisafe, a state-of-the-art Volvo safety system which integrates some of the most cutting-edge safety technologies to Volvo cars.

The technology uses a combination of radar sensors and cameras to identify other vehicles, pedestrians and cyclists and automatically brake if the driver fails to take the necessary action. This works in conjunction with Volvo's Active Bending Headlights, which adjust left to right according to the steering input to help see round corners better and improve safety at night.

Intellisafe's unique pedestrian and cyclist detection system, enhanced to work in darkness on the all-new Volvo XC90 to be introduced to the UK in June this year, was the inspiration for the Life Paint project. Together, these innovations contribute towards Volvo's Vision 2020 – the concept that that no one should be killed or seriously injured in a new Volvo by 2020.

Nick Connor, managing director at Volvo Car UK, said: "Every year more than 19,000 cyclists are injured on the UK's roads. At Volvo, we believe that the best way to survive a crash is not to crash at all, and are committed to making the roads a safer place by reducing the number of accidents. Volvo is a world-leader in safety technology, and we are proud to be extending our reach beyond just those driving our cars. By making cyclists increasingly visible as well as increasing the safety capabilities of our cars, we are doing our utmost to protect everyone on the road."

Adrian Walsh, director of RoadSafe, a leading forum for promoting and devising solutions to road safety problems, said: "Driving a car is a complex and demanding task. In poor light conditions it becomes even harder, especially in towns and cities where the road is often shared with cyclists and pedestrians. This innovative technology will certainly help to make it a safer place and it is really encouraging to see a manufacturer reaching out to make pedestrians and cyclists less vulnerable."

PEUGEOT: 308 unwrapped at NEC

Peugeot 308 unveil at the Gadget Show

PEUGEOT UK will be showing off its latest additions to the award-winning 308 model range at the 2015 Gadget Show Live, at Birmingham's NEC arena (stand G80) on April 7-12.

Technology fans will be treated to a sneak preview of the dynamic new flagship – the stunning 308 GT (both hatchback and SW), set to take the showroom success of the Peugeot 308 to even greater heights.

Experiencing the new 308, 2014 Car of the Year, up close is only one of the outstanding attractions on the Peugeot stand, visitors will also be put to the test in the 'driving seat' of the new Peugeot Driving Pod simulator. In a race against the clock, drivers will test the amazing capabilities of the new Peugeot 308 GT for the chance to win a Track Day!

NEAT: The new Peugeot 308

Rare Black Vincent due at Duxford

AMERICAN journalist, author and motorcycle enthusiast Hunter S Thompson once described the Vincent Black Shadow motorcycle as being so fast that "...it's pure hell on the straightaway, it'll outrun the F-111 until take-off".

The description is apt as, on April 15, H&H Classics will offer for sale a 1952 Vincent Black Shadow Series C at its popular Imperial War Museum, Duxford venue – also the home of The American Air Museum.

Famously, the Black Shadow was an even quicker version of the Vincent Rapide, then the 'world's fastest production motorcycle'. The 150mph speedometer hinted at prodigious performance from the Black Shadow's 1,000cc, blueprinted vee-twin: in 1950 the hand-built, all-black machine was capable of an easy 125mph.

Top cars of year so far – with Fiesta first VEHICLE supply company, OSV Ltd, has compiled a list of the best selling cars in the UK so far this year. Each has their own fan base, but they also have a few common traits.

Hope you find something you like!

1. Ford Fiesta

Great to drive, comfortable, handles well, stylish inside and out and there are some great deals available. What's not to love?

2. Vauxhall Corsa

Ford's biggest rival Vauxhall comes in at second. Like the Fiesta, the Vauxhall Corsa is well priced, spacious and has a range of engines to suit every type of driver. But does this mean Vauxhall are Ford's biggest competitor when it comes to google?

3. Ford Focus

Safety is one of the main selling points of the Ford Focus. In at number three, and the second Ford entry, the Focus is considered to have the best handling, it's refined and has low CO2 emissions.

4. Nissan Qashqai

Considered one of the most practical small SUV's, the Qashqai is reliable, smart, economically friendly and extremely refined. What more could you ask for?

5. Volkswagen Golf

Comfortable and an enjoyable drive, the reliable golf comes in at number 5. With its modern and practical build and strong resale values, Golfs are a popular choice for a number of car buyers – but are they popular with UK internet users?

Numbers six to 10 are the Audi A3, Mercedes-Benz C-Class, Volkswagen Polo, Fiat 500 and the Vauxhall Astra.

THE FORD FIESTA: Has dominated the UK car sales charts for years

LIFE PAINT: A very positive development for cycling safety

Volvo's Life Paint would make cycling far safer in the UK

VOLVO UK has launched the highly innovative Life Paint, a product aimed at increasing the visibility and safety of cyclists on the road. The unique reflective spray is designed to react to a car's headlights, alerting drivers to the presence of cyclists in the dark.

Life Paint was conceived by creative agency Grey London and has been produced in partnership with Swedish start-up Albedo100. Life Paint has been trialled in six London-based cycle shops, where 2,000 cans were given away free of charge. If Life Paint proves popular, the project will expand nationally and internationally.

The initiative marks another step by Volvo to improve safety for those both inside and outside its cars.

Europeans less optimistic about accidents today

WITH millions of UK motorists taking to the roads during the holidays, a new European survey finds that risky driving habits and failure to respect the rules are on the increase.

The annual survey carried out for VINCI Autoroutes Foundation for Responsible Driving by IPSOS examined the behaviour of drivers from 10 European countries. Each year, this survey draws up an inventory of driving practices and trends, allowing closer targeting of methods to prevent irresponsible driving and promote safer roads.

The survey results found that European drivers persist in engaging in risky driving behaviour, including going above the legal speed limit, using mobile phones and forgetting to wear their seatbelt. Survey results also indicate that while drivers tend to be satisfied with their own behaviour behind the wheel, they are very critical of their European neighbours.

Europeans are currently less optimistic that number of fatal road accidents will decline than they were in 2014. Only 55 per cent of respondents polled believe that the number of people killed in traffic accidents will continue to decline significantly in coming years (61 per cent in 2014).

European drivers believe that driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs is the main cause of fatal road accidents (62 per cent overall), but 12 per cent of the respondents admit they would take to the wheel despite having exceeded the authorised alcohol limit.

In contrast to the overall results, UK drivers believed that not paying attention, for example using a mobile phone while driving, is the main cause of fatal road accidents (59 per cent), followed by driving under the influence of alcohol or narcotics (46 per cent), speeding (46 per cent) and drowsiness (5 per cent).

UK motorists considered sending text messages while driving to be significantly more risky than respondents in nine other European countries (UK 42 per cent, Netherlands 37 per cent, France 36 per cent: overall 29 per cent).

Nine out of ten Europeans (91 per cent) admitted exceeding the speed limit by a few mile per hour, a practice that increased in all countries polled in 2014, notably UK (92 per cent, +3) Sweden (95 per cent, +8 points) and Belgium (94 per cent, +8 points).

Europeans surveyed said that the most responsible drivers are from Sweden (37 per cent), followed by Germany (27 per cent) and UK and Netherlands (11 per cent). The least responsible drivers are from Italy (31 per cent), Greece (20 per cent) and Poland (16 per cent).

Survey participants came from ten countries: Belgium, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Poland, Spain, Sweden and UK.

Special preview for the new Jaguar XF

AHEAD of its global debut at the New York Motor Show 2015, Jaguar has revealed the second generation of its sporting XF saloon at a special preview event.

At the VIP event attended by Emmy-nominated actress Christina Hendricks, supermodel David Gandy and supermodel-turned-TV presenter Jodie Kidd, Jaguar pulled the wraps off the updated saloon which features a new exterior, a high-tech cabin and updated mechanicals.

The new XF retains its athletic and sporting looks, while offering improvements in cabin space and luggage capacity.

Inside the all-new cabin Jaguar is promising a much-advanced system providing seamless connection with mobile devices, intelligent apps and configuration options. It also keeps the trademark rotating air vents and rotary gear selector.

A photograph of a white Chevrolet Camaro on display at an auto show. Three people are standing next to the car: a woman in a black dress, a man in a grey suit, and a woman in a red dress. The background shows other vehicles and display screens.

SVELTE: Jodie Kidd, David Gandy and Christina Hendricks with the new Jaguar XF lighter than the outgoing model by as much as 190kg. A revised engine line-up includes two petrol and two diesel engines, including the headline-grabbing

Ingenium diesel offering the potential for 71mpg and 104g/km of CO₂

On sale later this year, prices will start from around £32,000.

Blunn has edge to take Easter crown

DANIEL Blunn won the Easter 2015 Snooker Spectacular at Haverhill's Ex-Servicemen's Club.

The three-day disability snooker event, organised by TJS-Snookerbility's Tim Squires, saw players from the town and around the country taking part in the various competitions.

Good Friday saw club player Charlie Ripp beat clubmate Paul Wotton 3-0 to win the DB Sheet Metal charity event.

The knock-out event was held on Saturday and Sunday in a best-of-three format.

Blunn, from Sutton Coldfield, emerged victorious after edging out Gloucestershire's Jayson Whorley 2-1 in the final.

Whorley had the consolation of making the highest break of the competition with 44.

The 120 break challenge, consisting of players having to pot 15 reds and blacks alternately, was won by Laura Williamson with 27 points.

> Football: Thurlow Nunn League

Rovers victory pleases Shinn

MICHAEL Shinn was delighted to see his Haverhill Rovers team end a run of five games without a win in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division by beating Walsham-le-Willows 2-0 at home.

Martyn Farrant and Charlie Sigler scored in the second half as Rovers edged closer to safety with a deserved victory on Easter Monday.

After a 3-0 loss away to Brantham Athletic last Saturday, the win was a welcome way to end the weekend.

"I'm really pleased," said Shinn.

"We said going into the weekend that if we took three points we'd be happy. We were back to our old selves (against Walsham), working really hard. We scored two goals but we could have scored four.

"Defensively we were nice and solid and going forward we always carried a threat."

Shinn said he is already starting to think about next season but his main focus is on guaranteeing safety.

"We've been looking at next season for a month or so and we'll be looking to get one or two players in, but the boys we've got are giving us absolutely everything."

In the First Division, Haverhill Borough enjoyed two good wins over the weekend, notably a 1-0 victory over promotion hopefuls Saffron Walden Town.

Aaron Forshaw's second-half penalty proved to be the difference between the sides.

"From one to 11 and the substitutes that came on, they were superb and it was a great day for the boys," said Borough player-manager Martin Westcott.

That win followed a 2-1 home victory over Woodbridge last Saturday which came thanks to goals from Luke Latham and Forshaw.

The away side opened the scoring with the first shot of the game on eight minutes after Borough goalkeeper Charlie Turner punched away a long free kick.

The ball bounced kindly at the feet of Woodbridge's Ryan Keddlie, who volleyed the ball straight back past Turner to give the visitors the lead.

Three minutes later, Borough striker Lee Salmons pressurised the opposition goalkeeper, whose attempted clearance hit Salmons before Latham latched on to the loose ball and finished to level the scores.

Borough took the lead on 55 minutes when a Lee Hurkett cross found Forshaw, who poked home from close range after a brief scramble in the box.

Ketteridge in form to help Ipswich win

HAYDEN Ketteridge was in top form as he helped Ipswich Town's under-12 team win a tournament in Ireland.

The young goalkeeper (pictured below) was named player of the tournament following an assured display between the sticks which helped the squad claim a deserved triumph in Dublin.

Ketteridge, from Kedington, is a pupil at Samuel Ward Academy.

He joined the Ipswich Academy in January last year, having previously played for Haverhill Rovers' junior teams.
